(Image credit: Tom's Guide) The Fortnite Ninja skin is unlike other cosmetics in the colorful battle royale, as it marks the first time a streamer has gotten their likeness placed in-game for millions of fans to wear. It's not unlikely that other streamers get similar recognition in the future. The skin features Ninja's trademark blue hair, a high collared futuristic coat, and his blue and yellow logo on the side. The Ninja skin became available on January 17 for 1,500 V-Bucks, which rounds out to about $15. The skin left the shop after it's regular rotation on January 19, so it's currently unavailable with no way to directly purchase or obtain the skin in-game. Fortnite developer Epic Games will most likely bring the skin back at some point like it's done with other cosmetics, but we have no idea when that will happen. It's limited edition so we may have to wait sometime before this returns. The Fortnite item shop updates every day at 5 pm Pacific Time, if you're eyeing to pick up the Ninja skin you'll want to check the shop each day. There are handy sites that help you do that, like this one, so you don't have to log in if you aren't at home. The Ninja skin set comes with the Ninja outfit, Ninja's Edge Back Bling, a Ninja Emote called the 'Pon Pon', and the Dual Katana Pickaxe. It's part of an icon series that began earlier this month. The series brings personalities, including musicians, artists, and actors, to bring their likeness to the game. Major Lazer and Marshmello were both previous collaborators. YouTube creators Loserfruit and The Grefg are both future content creators that will be part of this series. Between now and January 7th, Fortnite is giving away a collection of 14 free character skins and other in-game items for all players during its big Winterfest event. After logging into the game, players can visit the seasonal in-game cabin to receive one free item per day from the game's nutcracker-themed character, Crackshot. You can find his cabin in the snowy area of the map, just north of Frosty Flights. The full list of Crackshot's gifts are: "Ornament Soldier" Christmas tree-theme character skin "Woolly Mammoth Onesie" Character skin Star Wars Sith-themed back bling decal Millennium Falcon Glider Treefall Glider Gingerbread Pickaxe Peppermint Pickaxe "New Year 2020" gun skin "Well Wrapped" wrapping paper-theme gun skin Snow Shaker emote "Holly and Divey" contrail skin Christmas-themed music Special Crackshot-themed loading screen You'll also be able to earn more items by completing daily challenges, and you can unlock special in-game bonuses by finding hidden Easter eggs in Crackshot's cabin. Plus, some old weapons and game modes will be on rotation during the Winterfest event. (The folks over at Fortnite Insider have a guide for each daily challenge that will be updated for each day of the Winterfest event, if you want to get goods nice and quick.) Fortnite's promotion can add plenty of cool, limited-time items to your collection, but don't worry about having to log in daily in order to get everything. If you skip a few days during the event, you'll be able to open any gifts you missed from previous days the next time you visit the cabin. Fortnite season 2 debuted at the beginning of 2020 and was a collaboration between Epic Games and Marvel. After crossovers with Avengers and Star Wars, Fortnite teamed up with Marvel's anti-hero Deadpool. Players were able to unlock an official skin themed after the crazy merc with a mouth by completing weekly challenges. Since the season has ended, many are still wondering if you're able to gain access to the content from it, including the Deadpool skin. Here, we'll go into everything you'll need to know about the Deadpool skin in Fortnite. Further reading: Can you still unlock the Deadpool skin? Unfortunately, no, you cannot gain access to the Deadpool skin in Fortnite anymore, due to the conclusion of chapter 2 season 2. With each season, the game features new challenges and themes, meaning the previous season and its contents go away. This is in attempts to keep things fresh and to ensure players keep checking back in. Season 2 ran from February 20 to June 17, 2020, and included a large variety of features, including changes to the map, a new Battle Pass, new weapons, factions, and updates to the game's menus. It was also the season that featured the historical Travis Scott concert, which millions of players attended. The length of season 2 was extended by Epic Games, due to the COVID pandemic, and was the longest season of Fortnite, overall. To unlock the Deadpool skin, players had to complete this character's weekly challenges, which required you to find several collectibles, like his shorts and pistols, and other tasks related to the anti-hero. To have access to the Deadpool challenges, you have to buy the Battle Pass, but it's worth it because it also works for the game's latest release. Along with the weekly challenges required to unlock the skin, you can also execute biweekly challenges throughout the season. Each of these challenges differs from one another and is relative to each character. There are some silly ones too. For example, one of our favorite ridiculous tasks involves finding Deadpool's plunger and destroying toilets in a specified location. Plenty of games give you some surprising jobs, but Epic Games tries to design theirs around each character's personality and theme. One of the coolest things about completing a challenge is that you get to unlock your character's skin, which you can use during play. In addition, you'll get the opportunity to select from various Deadpool-themed objects. For instance, once you finish a challenge successfully, you could gain access to a banner, a few different sprays, Deadpool equipment, a loading screen, and sometimes even multiple variations of the Deadpool costume. There's even an additional challenge you can take on that will unlock even more rewards like the authentic red costume, an unmasked edition, and the X-force skin. Fortnite's main focus is on Wolverine in the fourth season. His character goes through his own particular series of obstacles, similar to Deadpool's. This season maintains the same technique of achieving character-specific endeavors that lead to you unlocking and using his skin throughout your gaming adventure. Editors' Recommendations Epic Games It's another day ending in -y so Fortnite is having a new crossover event. Today, Fortnite players can complete quests in order to earn a new Free Guy skin and emote. It was inevitable that Free Guy would get a Fortnite crossover in some way. Fortnite is slowly gobbling up every video game and pop culture IP known to man, so it's only natural that the video game movie would get a piece of that action, too. After all, Free Guy is the closest we've ever gotten to an actual Fortnite movie — for now. (Which is exactly the threat it sounds like.) The "Dude" skin is a super beef-ified version of Ryan Reynolds' character Guy and looks like the kind of person who routinely sets off the lunk alarm at Planet Fitness. Dude curiously has a blue button up shirt tattooed on one of his pectorals which, I'm told by Verge reporter Chaim Gartenberg (who reviewed Free Guy), has an actual Serious Lore explanation. Players can also earn the Good Guy emote, which features Ryan Reynolds' voice saying, "Don't have a good day, have a great day," while the character does a little twirl that would make New Edition proud. Since the emote is voiced, developer Epic says that voice lines will be fully localized in game. Starting today and lasting until September 6th, finding special ATMs scattered around the world will give quests for players to complete. Fortnite players can complete quests in order to earn a new Free Guy emote, while a skin goes on sale at 8PM ET tonight. Soon you too can look like the most generic dudebro ever to grace Fortnite since... Jonesy. Fortnite's Marvel-themed season 4 is still ongoing, and Epic Games has just announced a new hero skin to get your hands on, joining the likes of Wolverine, Blade, Daredevil, Thor, and others. Starting on November 4, 2020, players will be able to gain access to a Ghost Rider skin, along with the vigilante's gear for free. Much like the Daredevil skin before it, you'll need to participate in a tournament while earning a certain amount of points during the Marvel Knockout trios mode to gain access to the skin. In this guide, we'll show you exactly what you need to do to obtain the Ghost Rider skin in Fortnite. Recommended reading: How to get the Ghost Rider skin for free Beginning on November 4th at 6:00 p.m. EST, players will be able to participate in the Ghost Rider Cup, which pits players against one another in the Marvel Knockout trios mode. According to the event description, "top scoring players from each region will receive the Ghost Rider outfit before it arrives in the Item Shop," meaning it will be awarded for free if you perform well enough. Your region will determine the rank you need to achieve to earn the skin. We'll list some of them below, as noted by the official rules: Europe — within top 800 NA East — within top 500 NA West — within top 200 Brazil — within top 200 Asia — within top 100 Oceania — within top 100 Middle East — within top 100 You'll be awarded points based on your performance during the tournament. For example, those who reach first place in a match will be awarded 25 points, second place will earn 10 points, third and fourth place get you 5 points, fifth through eighth will grant you 3 points, and anyone who comes in between ninth and sixteenth will get 1 point. Teams are able to participate in up to 10 matches during a session, which is expected to last three hours. Once the event ends at 9:00 p.m. EST, the tournament will be over and the ability to earn the Ghost Rider skin for free will be cut off. Keep in mind, you must have an account level of 30 to participate and must have two-factor authentication set up. How to buy the Ghost Rider skin However, much like the Daredevil and Blade skins, you'll be able to purchase the Ghost Rider skin and his cosmetics from the Item Shop — but only for a limited time. It's unclear when the skin will be available, but it'll likely be only a day or two after the tournament has ended. Since we don't know how much it'll cost yet, many are predicting it'll be around 2,000 V-bucks for the bundle that includes the Ghost Rider skin, Back Bling, glider, emote, and harvesting tool. If the Daredevil skin is any indication, Ghost Rider won't be available in the Item Shop for long — possibly around four or five days. So if you want the skin and don't want to participate in the tournament, you should purchase it as soon as you can. Editors' Recommendations
