We have implemented this training method in our Free 15-day Cursive Writing Course. Step 1: Teach Cursive Letter Formation The biggest and most important part of teaching cursive writing is to help the learner understand the formation of cursive letters. Have a look at the Cursive Alphabet. Cursive letters formations are different from general writing. For example, the letter "k" in lowercase is written in the following way. Cursive letters are written in different shapes. Unlike the traditional way of teaching from "a" to "z", these letters are to be taught in a different order. The order we give here would help the learner to incrementally turn the hand to write cursive letters in a very easy way. You can teach lower case cursive letters in the following sequence. We have made a free online course on Lowercase Cursive Letters (a-z) that you can refer to for your teaching. Set 1: Letters c, o, a, d, g, q Set 2: Letters i, u, w, t, r, s, j, p Set 3: Letters e, l, b, f, h, k Set 4: Letters n, m, v, y, x, z Similarly, capital letters can be taught in the following sequence. With our free online course on Capital Cursive Letters (A-Z), you understand why this sequence is effective. Set 5: Letters C, O, Q, E, L, G Set 6: Letters A, M, N, S, T, F, I, J Set 7: Letters P, R, B, H, K, D Set 8: Letters U, V, W, X, Y, Z The letter is better understood when the learner repeats and writes it more often. So ask them to write at least 10-15 times. A worksheet would be useful for this practice. You can use our free printable worksheets for lowercase and capital letters to teach cursive letter formation. These worksheets have arrows to show the letter formation as well as dotted letters for letter practice. Step 2: Teach Cursive Letter Connections After the crucial step of teaching cursive letters individually, it is time to connect the letters. You can start to teach connecting the letters as two-letter words in this sequence. These combinations need not have meaning, as they focus only on combinations. Ask the learner to practice connecting the letters in the same set. co, ca, cd, cg, oc, oa, od, og, oq, ac, ao, ad, ag, aq, dc, do, da, dq, dq, gc, go, ga, gd, qg, io, iw, it, ir, is, ij, ip, ui, uw, ut, ur, us, uj, up, wi, wj, wt, wr, ws, wj, wp, h, tu, tw, tr, ts, tj, tp, h, ru, rw, rt, rs, rj, rp, si, su, sw, st, sr, sj, sp, ji, ju, jw, jt, jr, js, jp, pi, pu, pw, pt, pr, ps, pj, ed, ef, eh, ek, el, lf, lh, lk, ke, bl, bh, bk, fe, fl, fh, fk, he, hb, hf, hk, ke, kl, kb, kf, kh, nm, nv, nx, ny, nz, mn, mv, mx, my, mz, vn, vm, vy, vz, xn, xm, xy, xz, yn, ym, yy, yz, zn, zv, zx, zy You can use our free printable worksheets to teach connecting c-o-a-d-g-q, i-u-w-t-r-s-j-p, e-l-b-f-h-k, n-m-v-y-x-z as two-letter words. This sequence of connecting letters is incrementally teach connections without stressing the learner's hand too far. Connecting capital letters Most of the time capital letters do not connect with other capital letters. So you can make the learner combine capital letters with small letters. The best option here is to ask them to connect with vowels. For example, Ca, Ce, Ci, Co, Cu Wa, We, Wi, Wo, Wu, Ra, Re, Ri, Ro, Ru etc. If you prefer using our Capital Letter Worksheets in your teaching, these combinations are already included in them. Step 3: Teach Actual Words in Cursive Once the learner is comfortable in connecting the cursive letters, teach 2-letter words. These words would be the real words that we often use. Below are a few words that you can ask the learner to practice. of, oh, on, or, ox, ad, am, at, do, go, if, in, is, it, we, to, so, ex, be, by, he, no, ma, me Now raise the bar and make the learner practice 3-letter words. For example, can, add, dam, get use, win, tap, sit, pen egg, law, bed, few, how, not, mug, van, you Similarly, you can teach writing 4-letter words such as cook, oath, dark, give, quit wood, tray, sand, pick, each, like, blow, half, kind, nose, mark, yoga, zero If you are looking for worksheets with this kind of words, we have prepared various worksheets with 2-letter words, 3-letter words, 4-letter words, 5-letter words, 6-letter words, 7-letter words, 8-letter words, 9-letter words, and 10-letter words for your easy teaching. Take a printout and use them in your teaching. Step 4: Teach Sentences in Cursive Now it is time to combine the words into sentences. Start with simple sentences like Look at the sky We are rich and happy The bus is going to come now Roses are red in color Cursive is better learned when the learner thinks and understands what they are writing. Ask them to write idioms that have a deeper meaning, such as New brush sweeps clean You reap what you sow One flower makes no garland At the bottom of the ladder Use our Sentences and Idioms worksheets where we have prepared more than 40 sentences for practicing in cursive. Step 5: Teach Passages/Paragraphs in Cursive In this final step, you can teach combining sentences that have a common meaning. Paragraphs focus on a particular point. Teaching Schedule If you need a comprehensive lesson plan to teach cursive, look at our "15-Day Cursive Writing Course" schedule. Cursive Writing Kit We have carefully designed and prepared a cursive writing kit for cursive writing practice. You can use this kit to teach cursive writing to your students in 15-days.
